BYU Christmas Cards To Cheer Fighting M

Blood Drive Upcoming

Miss Cutler mentioned that blood donors will also receive a donor's card which in an emergency will entitle them to all the blood they will need, anytime and anywhere in the country at participating hospitals.

Capping Women's Week activities is the annual Preference Ball on Friday night. Held at various locations around the campus, the Preference hall will feature an appearance by the Preferred Man and his Court. The dance begins at 9:30 p.m.

ighting Men

This year a special program has been organized with children from Utah, Idaho and Colorado submitting homemade Christmas cards for servicemen. Five hundred elementary schools will be participating in the drive.

The purpose of "Operation Christmas Cards" is to bring more Christmas cheer to the men and to show our appreciation to those who protect our freedom and happiness.

Windshields

It is for the purpose of preventing accident and injuries that the roadblocks have been set up. Chief Jesse Evans said that these blocks are to help get people in the habit of scraping off the front

The law requires that both windshield and rear windows be clear and that merely clearing only a part of the vision area is not sufficient.

ATTENTION COEDS

Tickets are still available for the "Vogues" concert, however, and may be picked up at the third floor ticket office of the Wilkinson center.

Boutonniere reservations are also still available for the Preference ball.

... into attending women's work activities are Mary Clements (1) and Jan Underwood. The feminine mystique will be observed, discussed, and examined closely during this week.

Students To Have Roster Of Faculty

By Christopher Evenson
Universe Staff Reporter

The mad rush before Registration to find out which professors are best may soon become a thing of the past.

A faculty roster "to give students a chance to find out what to expect from professors on campus" will appear before the end of this semester, according to Steve Hales, executive assistant to Todd Christofferson, ASBYU vice president of academics.

The Academics Office is sponsoring the roster, which will be the first of its kind to appear on this campus. Authorization has been received from President Ernest L. Wilkinson to allow publication of the catalog.

PROF ROSTER

The roster will be made up in the form of a catalog containing each professor's evaluation of his own teaching and what he expects of the students. The faculty roster is tentatively set to be ready for sale after students return from Christmas vacation.

Each of the approximately one thousand professors on campus has received a questionnaire which asks him to cooperate by listing his academic background, accomplishments in his field, current interests and projects in his field, classroom techniques and grading policies.

"Checking with other schools is the conference, it is found that the students do the evaluating of the professors as a warning or guide of who are the best or worst," commented Hales. "Ovschool is going about it just the opposite," he added.

"We feel that this will give the student a fair evaluation of professors and also give the professor a chance to state objectives before students choose subjects," Hildebrandt said.

"We need help," Hales pleaded. "To get this roster completed on time, we need typists, help with organizing and working on the form of the roster, help with editing and help to follow up on professors to gather all the information. Those wishing to help can come to 434 Wilkinson Center (Academics Office) and sign up," he continued.

"The whole idea of this roster is to get something into students' hands that will show them some choice or alternatives of professors," Hales said.

This roster will not only acquaint students with our faculty, their teaching techniques, requirements and aid the students to better perform in class, but will also be valuable in publicizing our faculty and their accomplishments.

The annual BYU Christmas Card Design Contest is in full swing. Judging areas are humorous, religion, contemporary and traditional. Designs should be no larger than 12 inches square and no smaller than four inches square. Entries can be submitted to the ASBYU Culture office on the fourth floor of the Wilkinson Center. Cash prizes will be awarded.

Nixon Names Security Assistant

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon today appointed foreign policy adviser Henry A. Kissinger his assistant for national security affairs, with instructions to handle the diplomacy and operations of the White House.

Kissinger, a Harvard University professor, shunned the suggestion that he is a hand-line view of problems. He said he will long-range planning which "prevent crises from coming."

Kissinger-elect personally announced his choice of the 40-year-old teacher, author and assistant consultant to what he will be a major policy position in the new administration.

REORGANIZATION
There will be a complete reorganization and restructuring of the entire White House security planning machinery," Nixon said. Kissinger said his job in essence is to see that all options are considered and long-range planning is weighed in shaping policy decisions.

Whether Nixon nor his new aide would discuss security policy or stress planning machinery, Nixon said it would not be appropriate for him to talk substantive policy matters publicly until after the transition, Kissinger said that the White House assistant it is not not be appropriate for him to talk about them at all.

When a reporter noted that Kissinger has a reputation as a man with hard-line views on the Communist, the professor replied: "I have tried to avoid labels like 'hard' and 'soft.' I find it very difficult to characterize myself." COUNCIL STREAMLINED
Kissinger said the National Security Council is going to be streamlined and streamlined, and I meet with it frequently and privately."

Kissinger will be in charge of that effort. Nixon said the council will put major emphasis on contingency planning, to prepare for problems before they become crises.

Nixon also announced that Dr. Richard V. Allen of the Hoover Institution of War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University will be a principal associate of Kissinger on the council staff. Allen was Nixon's campaign director of foreign policy research.

Discussing Kissinger's role, Nixon emphasized a search for advisers of all viewpoints. "We want a broad spectrum," Nixon said. He said he wants to make sure that the President does not hear "just what he wants to hear" in national security matters.

PLANNING EMPHASIS
Again and again, Nixon and Kissinger stressed the word "planning" in discussing the National Security Council's function.

He said men high in government too often are bogged down in a mass of diplomatic cables and memoranda. He said he does not want Kissinger to spend all his time in the White House situation room wading through such material; wants him free for creative thinking and discussion.

Kissinger said he will seek to draw into his operation the best talent in the nation, although the staff will remain at about its present size of some 20 people.

Kissinger, who has requested leave from Harvard, will succeed Walt W. Rostow, President Johnson's assistant for national security affairs. "His first assignment is to go to Washington," Nixon said, "I hope immediately."

U.S., North Viets Set Paris Ground Rules

PARIS (AP) — American and North Vietnamese envoys made progress Monday at a backstairs meeting to set ground rules for expanding the Paris peace talks. They also traded protests on military action in Vietnam.

U.S. sources, reporting this, said no date has been set for the first conference-table encounter of all four Vietnam fighting parties, though diplomats on both sides expect the formal talks to begin again next week.

U.S. Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance and Hanoi's Col. Ho Van Lau touched on low-key procedural questions at their secret two-hour encounter Monday morning, informants reported.

But before they got down to business Lau protested continuing U.S. reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam and U.S. air attacks in support of downed American flyers.

Vance, the informants said, countered with U.S. complaints about Communist military action, presumably the movement of North Vietnamese forces into the demilitarized buffer zone between the two Vietnams and the firing at U.S. reconnaissance flights.

Despite the protests, Vance and Lau were able to make progress on procedural questions involving working languages, delegation sizes and the conference site, which will probably remain the same as now.

Cougar Defensive Pair Chosen For WAC Team

High honors in the defensive department of Western Athletic Conference football were awarded to two BYU players Friday. Cougar linebacker Craig Bozich and defensive end Jeff Slipp were named to the first team of United Press International's WAC all-league team.

Majoring in business management, Bozich is a senior from Aurora, Colo. He has been a starter for the Cougars since the first game of his sophomore year. In 1967 he led the team in defensive statistics and is second in 1968. This is his second appointment to the prestigious all-league team.

Slipp, a Las Vegas junior and physical education major, was third in defensive statistics in 1967 and led the Cougars this year. He threw opposing players for many losses during the 1968 season and was credited with numerous unassisted tackles.

Wyoming's Cowboys placed one player, speedster Gene Huey, on both the offensive and defensive teams. He was picked at offensive end and defensive halfback in halloting by coaches and sports information directors in the league.

Three more Wyoming players were named to the all-league teams. Dave Hampton was named offensive halfback, Byra Kite at tackle and Larry Nels, defensive tackle.

Arizona's coach Darrell Mudra was a near-unanimous selection for coach of the year. Three Arizona griders were named to the mythical team—Tom Nelson at defensive tackle, John Matschak at offensive tackle and Rex Macklin at middle guard.

Y Keglers Place High

The BYU women's bowling team took top honors and the men's team placed second in its division in the first round of Inter Mountain Bowling Conference competition, held at Utah State University recently.

The members of the women's team, with their final pin totals, are: Vicki Boles, 495; Beverly Empey, 497; Suzanne Andrus, 463; and Norma Walton, 481. Dawn McCaulley was the alternate. The team strength was 158, three pins better than the goal.

"We'll set the goal even higher for the next match," commented Shafter Bown, exultant coach of the victorious team. "We've taken first place and the conference title for three years in a row, and we're going to take it again."

The men's team came in second behind Boise State College. Finn Christensen and Dennis Hullinger were high scorers for BYU with a three-game total of 579. Tom Cottogim also scored well with a three-game total of 557. Other team members were captain Bill Casday and David Musk.

University of Utah's Speedy Thomas was named as WAC halfback and Norm McBride as defensive end.

Arizona State placed two players on the team, Art Malone and Ron Pritchard. Malone, who for one season gained the WAC's rushing record, was named player and back of the year.

Rodeo Club Selects Honoree

By Gary Jacobson
Associate Sports Editor

BYU rodeo enthusiasts have selected senior Reed Groll as the Cougar Cowboy of the Month for December, on the basis of his current first place rating in the regional saddle bronc competition.

Newspaper consumption gives an indication of newspaper growth in the country. In 1946, newspapers used 4,296,000 tons of newspaper compared to 1967's consumption of 9,149,000 tons.

Groll, an animal science major from Randolph, Utah, is BYU's high scoring wrangler in intercollegiate rodeo competition this fall. He is presently a strong contender for the intercollegiate bull-dogging event for the remaining rodeos scheduled during the school year.

CLUB OFFICER

Groll, who filled an Alaska-Canada mission, presently holds the office of public relations chairman for the BYU Rodeo Club. The December Cowboy of the Month honoree captured the 1964 regional saddle bronc championship.

BYU's rodeo wranglers hold down a current third place standing in Intercollegiate Rocky Mountain region competition. Rocky Mountain schools consist of the University of Utah, Utah

State, Weber State, Dixie College, Boise State, Ricks College, Utah State and the College of Southern Utah.

STRENUOUS PRACTICE
Mountain Cat rodeo enthusiasts consisting of the present region and all interested candidates, are conducting three-hour-per-day practices at the BYU rodeo arena and at the Spanish Fork rodeo arena throughout the year.

The BYU Rodeo Club and Puma rodeo team operate joint. All prospective team members must also be active members of the Cougar Rodeo Club. "Members are always welcome to join the club," commented L. Rosenberg, Rodeo Club member. "BYU's Western Week activity during the first part of May highlight the annual BYU rodeo," he announced.

Big Jim

By Roger Gillespie
Sports Editor

Eakins is a big man.

As the basketball season wears on, his presence is being felt more each passing game. Jim, BYU cage fans will remember, is the major great who is presently in his rookie year for the Oakland of the American Basketball Association.

6' 11 1/2" 220 pound frame has contributed greatly to the success the Cougars have enjoyed this year. They presently lead the league with a mark and have shown they are the class of the Western Division.

Last Friday's game against the Kentucky Colonels, Jim tossed in 24 and was the second leading scorer trailing only the great Rick who tallied 45. The Oaks trounced the Kentucky club, 133-109. When asked about Barry, Jim had nothing but praise. "The guy is big," commented the handsome giant. "He can do everything on basketball court. It is a real honor to just be on the same team with guess one of my biggest thrills," the big guy continued, "was the I scored 32 points last the club in scoring. Any time you score that high it has to be a big night."

Currently sports an excellent 16.3 average, even though he has playing at times this year in a reserve role.

out pro ball, Jim has very definite ideas. "I love the pros," Jim simply. "It is a different game—everything is so polished, but I have good success up to this point and I guess this is why I like it.

But I want people here at the 'Y' to realize that pro basketball is by a means to an end," commented the suddenly-scorer cage star. The PU play two years—maybe ten, but it is just a beginning to my real life's work will be."

COUGARS IMPRESSIVE

the Cougars had just opened the season by whipping a highly-touted Western California squad when this team talked with him and Jim lavish in his praise of the BYU team.

They showed me a lot," he began. "Especially this Ruffner kid. He all the makings of a real great one; good touch, aggressive, great as around the basket. All these things are vital if you are going to it big in college or pro ball.

But the team is going to have to be careful," continued the elite booster. "It could be another year just like last year if they're careful. We started fast and then toward the middle of the year ed to fall flat. Complacency has no place on the basketball floor if this year's team allows this to happen they will be in real trouble. What about your greatest thrill is basketball," this writer queried. "I in college ball it would have to be when we won the National ational Tournament," he slowly replied. But my all-time greatest has to be in high school when we went undefeated. But it almost it so. A team stalled the whole game and had us down 19-17 with six seconds left. I had a one-and-one situation at the free throw and sank both shots to tie the game and then we won in overtime."

PET PEEVES

ten it comes to pet peeves, Jim has one that sticks out like a sore thumb. "It's fair-weather fans," he said emphatically. And as much as I BYU, I have to say that they have the worst group of fair-weather I have ever seen. When the team is winning, all they hear is 'way to 'good going,' etc. But have them lose a few games and attendance only drops and those who do attend come only to boo. Look at year's football team for a good example. I will be through Provo occasionally this year to see the team play oh yes, to see a young lady friend.

ports Dept To Meet

There are openings for writers on the UNIVERSE sports desk. Those who would like to write for the sports department are urged to attend a special meeting at 5 p.m. Wednesday in 538 Wilkinson Center. Those who are presently in the staff are also urged to attend. If attendance is not possible, please contact sports editor Roger Gillespie prior to the meeting.

NMS To Test Cats Thursday

A strong New Mexico State team beckons BYU's fighting Cougars in a Thursday night contest at Las Cruces. Both clubs will enter the fracas sporting 1-0 records—the Staters having defeated Colorado State and the Cats highly touted SC.

Concerning the Cats opening victory over the Trojans, Coach Stan Watts said, "We are very proud of the way the team performed under pressure, but we're still capable of much better performances." He feels that his bunch will have to perform better than they did against SC to down NMS.

For the first game of the season, the Pumas showed a lot of potential against the favored opponents from the smog belt. The brightest spot turned out to be the biggest spot, in the person of 6' 9" center Paul Ruffner.

Ruffner, a junior college transfer from California, showed a great deal of poise for his first varsity game. Pitted against Troys' highly touted 7-1 giant Ron Taylor, Pablo drove around and shot over his bigger foe to rip the cords for 25 big points—this despite the fact that he missed 10 minutes of the first half due to foul trouble. On the boards he out rebounded Taylor 16-13.

ANOTHER JUNGLE JIM?

Scott Warner, BYU's answer to Boston Celtic great—filled in for Ruffner admirably, scoring 10 points and controlling the tempo of the game. In Ruffner and Warner the Cats quite possibly have the best 1-2 punch at center in the West.

Guards Doug Howard and Lynn Parsons came through unexpectedly well, combining for 42 points. SC supposedly had as fine a guard line as any college power but could only come up with 28 points against an aggressive BYU defense. Coach Watts felt that showing of Howard and Parsons would be the biggest factor in determining the game's outcome.

Forwards Karl Limmo and Marty Lythgoe, both second team all-WAC last season, scored but 11 points between them. Both are used to pressure and are expected to provide more scoring punch in the NMS tilt.

CLUTCH PERFORMANCE

Perhaps the most important aspect of the BYU-SC affair was the way in which the Cats came from behind in the second half and then protected their slim margin during the pressure-packed final minutes.

REBOUNDING STRENGTH

will once again be a key if the Cougars are to upset the highly-regarded New Mexico State basketball team this Thursday in Las Cruces. Marty Lythgoe and Karl Limmo, the Cougars' starting forwards, are battling for a loose ball in last Saturday's victory over USC.

DR. DAVID GEDDES

... accepts Michigan post

Dr. Geddes Named As MTU Dean

Dr. David D. Geddes of BYU has been appointed dean of the College of Science and Arts at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, Mich., effective next year.

The post was created this year when the MTU Board of Regents established within the University a College of Engineering, School of Forestry and a College of Science and Arts. His area will include departments of biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics, social sciences, education, physical education, Army and Air Force ROTC.

He received the bachelor's degree at Willamette University, master's at BYU and the Ph.D. in physiology and physical education in 1959 from the University of Southern California.

He came to BYU in 1952 and has served three years as chairman of the Health Education Dept. and six years as chairman of the Department of Physical Education for Men.

He also has been associate clinical professor of physiology at California College of Medicine and spent two years in full-time research for U.S. Public Health Service on studies involving heart and lung disease. He was an adviser for two years to the ministry of education in Iran, together with a team of BYU faculty in the establishment of a new college of Tehran.

Yuletide Concert Set By A Cappella Choir

By Mary Embry
Universe Staff Writer

BYU's World-traveled A Cappella Choir, directed by Dr. Ralph Woodward, will present a Christmas concert Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the de Jong Concert Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center.

This 64-member choir traveled last summer in Europe on a singing tour. Delighting audiences in Germany, Holland, England, Scotland and Italy, the choir was frequently lauded with standing ovations.

But most memorable moment of the tour was the choir's victory at the International Eisteddfod Festival in Wales.

With a first-place trophy and 250 sterling pounds to prove it, the BYU A Cappella Choir stands as one of the finest singing groups in the world.

Membership in the choir is highly selective. Prospective singers audition with Dr. Woodward and, if they are selected, have tasted only the beginning of hard work. Each

It requires hours of dedicated, patient practice to remain a member of A Cappella Choir. But the reward is worthwhile. Being a member of such an organization is more than a small claim to fame.

Help Needed In Research

Erma Jeanne Arzyle, graduate student in psychology communications, says about an hour will be needed to fill out research forms. The task is difficult, and students should find it interesting. She can be contacted at 373-1767.

Both color-blind and color-deficient students are needed, as well as some persons with normal vision for language portion of the research.

Notes Due

Students who have arranged loans for spring semester must get their second installment note at this time so that it can be signed by the co-signer, reminded O.W. Nielson, director of student loans.

"Then the proceeds will be made available so that tuition may be paid early in January," stated Nielson.

Students who anticipate needing assistance through the loan program for second semester registration will find it more convenient to contact the loan office as soon as possible and avoid the rush.

Alpha Kappa Delta, sociology honor society, is sponsoring the panel discussion.

Comprising the panel are Dr. John Christiansen, head of the Sociology Dept., Dr. James Duke, and Professors John Seggar and Dennis Payne.

Dr. Christiansen, Dr. Duke, and Prof. Seggar made a presentation on youth protest to the Council of State Governments in Los Angeles.

"In the discussion we plan to examine both the goals and the feelings of youth protest groups, to look at the scene objectively," said Dr. Christiansen. Implications for both The Church and the society as a whole will be discussed.

College Bowl Preliminary Round Set

BYU College Bowl's preliminary rounds will begin next week after its kickoff performance which matched the faculty against the students.

Randy Long, president of Archon, an honor society on campus, is in charge of college bowl this year for the ASBYU Academics Office.

"The main idea of the preliminary rounds, which will begin on Dec. 9 and run until Christmas vacation and continue one week in January, is to give people practice in College Bowl procedure," said Long.

Sign-ups for the four-member teams are now being taken and must be turned in by Friday to 434 Wilkinson Center (ASBYU Academics Office). "We need as many teams as possible," indicated Long.

"Independents, clubs, organizations, classes, and on-and-off-campus housing groups are encouraged to get teams together," Long stated. "We need to get teams good enough to compete with other schools," he added.

Games will be scheduled at 7, 7:45 and 8:30 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Teams must play when scheduled and times will vary from week to week.

Each team will include four members plus two alternates.

"The main competition will begin next semester. A BYU College Bowl championship team will be chosen to represent our school in conference competition," said Long.

During official College Bowl competition all questions asked can only be used once here at BYU.
